day by the tail-end aggregation, the score being 12 to 4. Kellum was in the box for the visitors, and that usually invincible that was made helped the Buffalos to score. Gray did very well at first, but it was apparent that it was not his corner,

Seven Hoosiers came to bat in the fourth, but only one run was scored. Hickey flew out to center, Kellum beat out his bunt back. Hogriever fouled out to Schreckon-with singles, scoring Kellum and filling the bases, but Heydon's hit killed Gray at sec-blanks, not a hit being made off Hastings.

It might be recorded right here before it is

A Vigorous Protest. To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: If the United Irish-American societies imagine that they are forwarding their influence or contributing to the cause of numan liberty by denouncing the adminthey very much misapprehend the temper of the American people. It is true that America has been, and is, an asylum for the oppressed of all nations, but it is not, or ought not to be, a refuge for the criminals of all nations. It must require a very pronounced myopic condition, induced by senseless prejudice, to "see in this action of the present administration an abject and slavish surrender of one of the vital principles which have made our country, through the entire period of its history, stand out as a refuge and shelter for the oppressed of all nations." It is strange that these societies can not also see that there is a law against the admission of criminals, not only from Ireland, but from any country. This is a class of immigrants which is very unwelcome to all good citizens of the United States whatever their extraction, and it is not an evidence of the was on schedule time. cerspicuity or unwavering patriotism of the nited Irish-American Societies to chamacterization of this action of the administration as "a base surrender of American octrine at the demand of the one country which has always been our bitter and unrelenting foe," and as "an act which incates that the present administration will go to any length to pander to English opinon." exhibits an insight into statesmanship truly characteristic of the Irish people. The people of the United States, exclusive of that portion blinded by prejudice, is not aware that England "has always been our bitter and unrelenting foe," for, since the war of 1812 our relations have been very cordial, though there has been, and is now, a lively commercial rivalry, and since the Spanish-American war began to present moment, our relations have en frank, and without a shadow of bitterness, on the part of either nation. Americans do not entertain ill feeling for our British cousins and, if the Irish have grievances against them, it would be braver

THE WEAK LINES WEST AS WELL AS EAST WILL BE ABSORBED.

Movement Looking to Abandoning Jobbers' Excursions-Ill Feeling Over Excess Fares Question.

The new deal through which the ownership and control of the Iowa Central rests with the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific is said to be the first of a series of steps to be taken toward the greatest railway consolidation ever contemplated. It is asserted that the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe systems have combined to prevent the Harriman interests from gaining too much power, yet at the same time the three systems are to work together for the maintenance of rates. . It seems to be the conclusion of the magnates of the railway world that the only way to prevent weak lines from cutting rates is to amalgamate them with the strongest systems. The idea of "unification of financial control" has rapidly developed in the East and the indications are that it will have greater growth in the West. It seems certain that all of the little roads will be swallowed up by the big systems. While the latter will in time be able to enforce the maintenance of tariff rates, each will be careful to prevent any other from securing too great an advantage. The smaller roads in the middle West now controlled by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe systems are the Minneapolis & St. Louis, the Indiana, Illinois & Iowa and the Iowa Central. Plans for the acquisition of other roads are progressing. It is said to be the aim of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe to prevent the extension of the Harirman system to the Pacific coast. If this is true there will be a lively contest for the financial control of a number of smaller lines.

Indianapolis. who will return to the United States on the White Star line steamer Oceanic, sailing from Liverpool to-day, after three months spent in Europe, said, to a reporter, in London, yesterday: "I heard, while in Paris, that English investors were sore over the failure of the Northern Pacific to pay an extra dividend and that American railroad shares seem suffering in consequence. Without knowing the details, the Northern Pacific's action, I should judge it, is the fault of investors and spe lators, rather than the roads. When I left the United States, in March, I believed several railroad stocks were raised to figures unjustified by earnings. To judge that everybody will get rich as a result of this is, perhaps, rather rash. Judging from the cable advices, there is much to justify conservative managements in not increasing dividends. Coal and wages have risen tremendously. This is bound to affect the net earnings, and increased expenses must be provided for without calculating too much upon the prospect of good business which, I sincerely believe, exists. I expect a ragged market and many fluctuations till after election, though I do not believe values will be seriously affected in the long Discrimination Alleged. Lines running through the States of Iowa and Illinois are trying to kill the custom of lines have decided to refer all applications for such excursions to the chairman of the Western Passenger Association, who will quote such applicants the rate for special trains, $1.25 per train mile. Illinois lines are now voting on a similar proposition with every prospect that it will be carried. The so-called jobbers' excursions, the roads say, have caused no end of trouble. If one line running to certain jobbing centers gets up a jobbers' excursion, which results in people along the line going to these towns to purchase supplies, other lines follow, with the result that the merchants of cities which are not in the circuits of jobbers excursions cry out against the alleged dis-crimination. The jobbers have made a vigorous protest.

The Dubuque & Sioux City Railroad embraces all of the Illinois Central and its branches in Iowa. The company was originally incorporated in 1860, and in 1880 was extended for a period of fifty years. Replying to an inquiry of the Western roads, Chairman Donald, of the Central Passenger Association, says he is not at liberty to tender for basing purposes to connections party rates authorized by individual lines, but individual lines may do so themselves. The rule of the association regarding party rates is that, effective July U. Showers, P. K. Buskirk, N. U. Hill, F. M. Dugger and Fred Mathews. 1, for parties of ten or more traveling to without stopovers the rate will be 2 cents per mile per capita, short-line mileage. On differential lines 10 per cent. deductions will be allowed from this rate, with a maximum deduction of $1.50. While the question of excess fares seems to have been settled, there is more prospect of war and bitterness over it now than there ever has been. The Erie won a signal victory, and found the differential roads stronger in their position than they have been for years, but it did so at the expense of the good will of the standard Given a Terrible Drubbing Yesterday roads and even some of its colleagues in the differential privilege.

The Burlington has announced an advance, effective July 2, on grain and grain products originating at points west of Kansas City, St. Joseph, Leavenworth and Atchison, when shipments are reconsigned to central points on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. The wheat rate to Burlington and Beardstown and common points is made 111/2 instead of 9 cents, and the rate to Quincy and East Burlington is made 114 cents. At present the 7-cent rate to Quincy on wheat and flour destined to points east of the Illinois-Indiana state line applies to Quincy proper. This is of interest to local shippers and grain dealers. Not all railroad managers are far enough advanced in their ideas to welcome comparison of their methods with those of the Lake Shore, but it should be borne in mind that the exceptional record of this division of the Vanderbilt system is due not only to Providence or good fortune, but also in great measure to wise administration. F. J. Van Vorhis, chairman of the silver Republican organization of the State, thinks there is not the slightest probability of B. F. Shively being nominated for the vice presidency on the Democratic ticket. He declined to say what the silver Republicans will do in the event Shively is nominated. Mr. Van Vorhis thinks it would be bad politics to nominate Shively. He says that notwithstanding Mr. Shively's pronounced free silver views, the free silver branch of the Democracy is out of humor with him for the way he acted in the State convention. The note which Shively sent into the convention declining to be a candidate came as a surprise to many of the silver delegates who had gone to bed the night before feeling that Shively's name would go before the convention the next day and that he would be the nominee. It is claimed Central Passenger Association lines will that many of the silver men feel that bolish the sliding scale party rate on Shively has trifled with them. Mr. Van Vorhis says he does not see any particular significance in the fact that Shively is to go to the Kansas City convention on the official train which will bear the "conservative" element of the party from this State. Mr. Van Vorhis thinks that two or three hundred silver Republicans will go to Kansas City. The silver Republicans will hold their convention July 4 at the same time the Democratic convention will be held They expect to ratify the nominations made by the Democrats and they are hoping that Towne, the Populist vice presidential nominee, will be selected for second place on the Democratic ticket. The Crop Bulletin. The crop bulletin issued by the weather office for the week ending June 26 has the following to say: "Moderately warm weather and rains during the middle of the week; exceedingly heavy rains on Friday injured many fields of growing crops. Corn continues very promising; in many fields ft is too high for cultivation and is very weedy. Oats are heading and promise a good yeld; ready to cut, with heads well filled. When the weather permitted the wheat harvest and clover cutting continued, but there is very little wheat to cut; clover made a good crop in some, but only fair in other meadows; rains improved grass and the hay crop will probably be good. Tobacco is all transplanted and doing nicely. Flax sugar beets, factory pickles and tomatoes, planted in great quantities, are growing well. Timothy and millet are doing well Although apples and peaches are falling badly, the yield still promises to be good Pasturage and live stock are in very good condition." Salaries of Postal Clerks.

July 1, the salaries of 112 men in the mail service on Indianapolis railroads will be increased. Sixty-nine of these men who belong to Class 4 will have their salaries raised from $1,100 to $1,200 a year. Fortyone men in Class 5 will be raised from $1,300 to $1,400. Chief clerks A. J. Ball and C. E. Votaw will be raised from $1,400 to will be added to the service July 1.
